as secretary.

The Chairman addressed the meeting in a brief but pointed manner, explanatory of the object of the meeting; after the voluntary declarations and evidence of the highly respectable citizens of the county was heard, upon motion, the Chairman appointed the following committee to draft suitable resolutions; Chas. R. Pryor, A. Moss, W. H. Hord, A. M. Moore, T. C. Hawpe, and A. J. Witt.

After a few remarks by Gen. J. J. Good, After a few remarks by Gen. J. J. Good followed by Col. Crockett, the meeting ad-followed by Col. Crockets, the meeting adjourned to meet again at one o'clock P. M., Saturday, 13th August, 1859.

The next day the meeting again convened and the committee reported a preamble and resolutions, very decided in their tone, and, as we should judge, exceedingly unpalatable to an abolitionist. Among them we find the following. following:

Resolved, 4th, That we deny the existence that would be the following that we deny the existence of the following that we deny the following that we deny the following that we deny the following the following that we deny that we deny that we deny the following that we deny the following that we deny that we d of any state of affairs amongst us that would warrant the effort on the part of Northern Churches, Benevolent Aid Societies to send these "wolves in sheeps clothing," who, with Bible in hand and evil in their hearts, go forth preach the most dangerous and insurrectionary doctrines: and that we do not accord to any such societies the privilege to interfere with our rights and institutions, manners and customs. That we are opposed to the presence of such persons among us—and will expel them from our borders as a public nuisance.

Resolved, 9th, That we would recommend to the different churches in our county, for which we entertain the highest respect and veneration, the importance of purifying their pulpits from the presence of such persons as come under our public condemnation, for per-verting the pulpit from its legitimate purpo-ses, and making it subservient to their unholy

Resolved, 6th, That we believe the safety of our families, our homes, and our property is endangered by the presence and preac these men; and that we feel justified i adopting the most stringent means to restrain and prevent such things.

Resolved, 7th, That as law-loving and lawshiding citizens, we look to the laws of our country to protect us in our rights, and in the event that the law cannot reach such offenders, of whose guilt we are morally certain, then we will resort to other means to protect our lives and property, and will expel such offenders and intruders from the soil they defile by their presence.

Resolved, 8th, That we particularly have reference to one Parson Solomon McKinney, against whom we have ample testimony to red to, and we take this means of protesting opportunity of warning him to seek a field where the sentiments of the people are more ougenial to his own, and not again attempt to preach in this community.

The meeting then adjourned sine dic.

The resolutions were adopted with but one dissenting voice. The reverend gentleman alluded to was present, and heard the resolu-tions read. The Herald advises him to leave, and intimates that if he fails to do so the conequences to him will be very unpleasant. r localities have also, it appears, had Parson McKinney's case under consideration.— The citizens of Lancaster held a meeting, and passed resolutions that he should not fill his appointment at that place, and furnished him with a copy.
